

- ... irritating customers!
- ... wasting your staff's time!
- ... spending unnecessary money!

Quite simply, your current telephone system could be irritating customers through poor call management functionality; wasting your staff's time by having to redirect and follow up on calls that are not handled correctly; as well as costing you unnecessary money through old technologies and high maintenance costs.

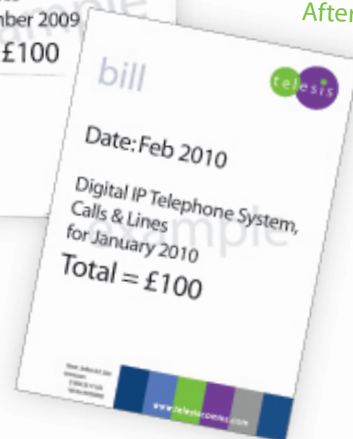

STOP these issues now with a new digital IP system ...without spending any more money!

Quite simply, Telesis will package your telephone calls and lines together with a new digital IP telephone system and all for the same cost that you are currently paying for just your calls and lines!*
